PROFILE	I am an enthusiastic IT student beginning my learning journey in programming, software development, and using technology to solve problems. I am dedicated to establishing a strong base in IT concepts and gaining hands-on experience. I look forward to taking part in creative projects, working with classmates, and growing both personally and professionally in information technology. My academic project work show my dedication to learning and using new technologies to tackle real-world issues. I enjoy working in team settings and aim to contribute to meaningful projects while continuously improving my technical skills.
